Award-winning lifestyle brought to you by Rosecorp

Breakfast Point winner of

2004 UDIA Award for Best Lifestyle Development

2004 NSW Urban Taskforce Development Excellence

Award for Residential Development Master Planned Community

What the judges said

“Breakfast Point is master-planned as a self-sustained walkable neighbourhood. Its successful integration into the existing neighbourhood is the result of cooperation between developers and the local council and community who have responded very positively to this new urban village.”

2004 NSW Urban Taskforce Development Excellence Award for a Master Planned Community

“This is a major renewal project which will settle in over time and develop into a high quality residential estate providing a range of housing options, as well as appointed community facilities. The master plan maximises the site’s waterfront location with good view corridors to the river and city skyline. At present a lot of the development is a historical ‘reproduction’. However the community appears to have embraced the use of timber architecture and the landscape will in turn enhance this development immensely.”

2004 UDIA Award for Best Lifestyle Development

‘Over the past 15 years, Rosecorp has specialised in creating high quality residential projects and has built a reputation for developing communities that are environmentally sound and offer a sense of community for its residents’.

Rosecorp prides itself on setting new standards for quality, planning with attention to detail and is delighted to receive such recognition from the industry. These awards are a testament to the company’s expertise in the highly specialised field of master planned communities.

More importantly, for Breakfast Point residents both today and in the future, these awards promise that this waterfront village will always be an address they long to come home to, and living proof that Rosecorp has earned its reputation for truly ‘developing tomorrow’s heritage’.
